INTRODUCTION

Harnessing the human spirit is central to Disaster resilience and Preparedness. The common man bears the biggest brunt and is the first responder in the face of disaster. With the knowledge of local geology, hazard context and the livelihood options available, the local community should be involved in disaster risk resilience and preparedness processes. If the people are trained in advance, they can work in tandem with the Government to efficiently manage any disaster.

Kerala set an example for the world with our strength of volunteerism during the recent climate and health crises including floods and Covid-19 pandemic. Moved by this immense response of the civil society, the Government decided to form the Directorate of Samoohika Sannadhasena also called Community Volunteer Corps, under the Department of General Administration for sustaining volunteerism as an asset of Kerala society. First of its kind in India, Samoohika Sannadhasena was conceptualized as a ready to act community volunteer force in all crises of the society.

The changing nature of crises has necessitated the need to equip this volunteer force with requisite skills of disaster risk resilience and preparedness. The government entrusted the Chief Executive Officer (CEO), District Disaster Management Authority (DDMA) as the District Nodal Officer, Samoohika Sannadhasena and proposed to conduct a Disaster Risk Resilience & Preparedness in all 14 Districts by DDMA's by covering a minimum 1000 Sannadha Sena Volunteers in each district.

As per this direction, Disaster Risk Resilience & Preparedness training was carried out by DDMA Ernakulam for 1161 volunteers in 9 sessions; 7 sessions for the Taluks, 1 for Cochin Corporation and a separate targeted training session for ASHA (Accredited Social Health Activist) workers.

PLANNING STAGE

A meeting was held on 20.10.2022 with Cochin Corporation Secretary, Deputy Director of Panchayats (DDP), Regional Joint Director (RJD), Urban Affairs, District Medical Officer(DMO) and District Fire Officer(DFO) to discuss the training schedule, course of action and identification of resource persons for the training.

A Google form was prepared to procure the list of 10 volunteers each from all 82 Panchayats, 15 volunteers each from all 13 Municipalities and 2 each from all 74 wards of Kochi Municipal Corporation.

E-mails attached with the aforesaid form were disbursed to all Panchayat and Municipal Secretaries to procure the list of volunteers from their respective local bodies. The list of volunteers received were then sorted Taluk- wise and that list was sent to the respective Taluks.

A meeting was held on 04.11.2022 by the Deputy Collector (Disaster Management) with the Deputy Director of Panchayat, Regional Joint Director, Urban Affairs, all Local Body Secretaries to ensure participation of all volunteers from the given list.

Another meeting was held on the same date for all Tahsildars by the Deputy Collector (Disaster Management) to provide guidelines for Taluk wise training sessions.

The Ernakulam District ASHA coordinator was consulted regarding conducting a separate training session for Asha Workers.

The Directorate of Samoohika Sannadhasena organized a meeting for all DDMA's in the State.

All the members of the District Emergency Operations Centre (DEOC) team were actively involved throughout the planning and implementation process.
